

BODIES TO BE SHOT AT

Leonard Has Faith in Bullet-Proof Coat.

Test of Material to Be Made Afternoon.

He Says It Is Better and Thinner than Heretofore.

Brooklyn, July 12.—Mr. J. F. Leonard, who has been working on a bullet-proof coat for some time, today permits a reporter to see a specimen of his work. The coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

Mr. Leonard's bullet-proof coat is made of a material which he has invented, and is said to be better and thinner than heretofore. The test of the material will be made this afternoon.

ONE OF THE NICOL'S VICTIMS.

Captain Hyde Testifies at the Inquest into McAleer's Death.

His Responsibility Not Passed on by the Jury.

The surviving members of the crew of the tug J. D. Nicol and the Executive Committee of the Herring Fishing Club were present at the coroner's office this morning when the inquest was held into the death of Frank McAleer, of St. Bridge street, one of the passengers.

John Quinn, one of the fishing party, was with McAleer on the boat and left him about three minutes before the tug foundered. He subsequently identified McAleer's body.

James Gilmore, another of the fishing party, corroborated Quinn's testimony. He testified that he was in the charge of the tug on the day of the accident. He had never seen McAleer, that he could remember.

The jury then rendered a verdict that the death of McAleer was caused by the negligence of the tug J. D. Nicol. The matter of the tug's culpability is a matter for the State authorities. The court adjourned until next week.

The jury then rendered a verdict that the death of McAleer was caused by the negligence of the tug J. D. Nicol. The matter of the tug's culpability is a matter for the State authorities. The court adjourned until next week.

The jury then rendered a verdict that the death of McAleer was caused by the negligence of the tug J. D. Nicol. The matter of the tug's culpability is a matter for the State authorities. The court adjourned until next week.

The jury then rendered a verdict that the death of McAleer was caused by the negligence of the tug J. D. Nicol. The matter of the tug's culpability is a matter for the State authorities. The court adjourned until next week.

The jury then rendered a verdict that the death of McAleer was caused by the negligence of the tug J. D. Nicol. The matter of the tug's culpability is a matter for the State authorities. The court adjourned until next week.

AGAINST "L" ROAD.

Property Owner Maitland Wants an Injunction.

Says the Third Track Will Damage His Property.

First Citizen to Oppose the Scheme in the Courts.

Justice Baschoff, of the Court of Common Pleas, today heard arguments upon the motion of Charles G. Bennett, against the proposed "L" road, an injunction restraining the Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company from building a third track upon its Ninth avenue branch.

Similar motions have before been made in behalf of the city, but this is the first motion made in the courts in this direction by a protesting property owner.

Upon the first motion of the counsel for the city an injunction was issued. The injunction was subsequently modified allowing the road to build the third track, as it was shown that the Company had the consent of the new Rapid Transit Commission.

Mr. Maitland, the plaintiff in this action, owns a large amount of real estate upon Ninth avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Thirtieth streets, and is the lessee of a large number of other houses in that neighborhood.

The plaintiff brought a number of suits against the Manhattan Company for damages to his property. He secured judgments in the lower courts, which were afterwards confirmed by the Court of Appeals.

The plaintiff's counsel today argued that the running of the elevated tracks on the third track will tend to further darken the houses he owns and leases, and also to exclude the air from his property, and that Mr. Maitland's property would be injured in no way by the additional track.

Justice Baschoff reserved decision.

POINTERS ON THE RACES.

Fair Lot of Horses Engaged in the Various Events.

Florence, Monaco, Drum Major, W. B. and Roller Look Well.

"EVENING WORLD" SELECTIONS
First Race—No selections.
Second Race—Florence, Fillet, Knifed.
Third Race—Monaco, Harry Reed, Cockade.
Fourth Race—Drum Major, Shadow, Madstone.
Fifth Race—W. B., Vestibule, Jodan.
Sixth Race—Roller, Tom Tough, Harry Altonzo.

The cars at Brighton looks fairly attractive and several of the events may furnish fair sport. The only race that looks especially interesting is the sixth, a dash of a mile. Wheeler, Tom Tough, Harry Altonzo, Roller, Vespasian and others of fair class, should put up a good race. Kingston is also named to start, and he will be well sent to his race yesterday.

The five furlong dash, fourth on the card, will also furnish an interesting contest. Madstone, Mr. Sues, St. Felix, Billy Boy, Woodchopper, Shelly Tuttle, Shadow, Drum Major and other good horses among those named to start.

The first race contains a hard looking lot of non-winners. A fair lot of three-year-olds starts in the second event. Fillet, Knifed and Florence being among the number. Harry Reed and Monaco should finish close together in the third, and the fourth race will be a close one. W. B., Young Arion and Wilmar will go well.

The entries and selections are as follows:
First Race—Purse $100, for three-year-olds and upward, selling, five furlongs.
2nd. American Saddle Potatoes.
3rd. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
4th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
5th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
6th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
7th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
8th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
9th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
10th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.

Second Race—Purse $100, for three-year-olds and upward, selling, five furlongs.
2nd. American Saddle Potatoes.
3rd. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
4th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
5th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
6th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
7th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
8th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
9th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
10th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.

Third Race—Purse $100, for three-year-olds and upward, selling, five furlongs.
2nd. American Saddle Potatoes.
3rd. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
4th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
5th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
6th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
7th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
8th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
9th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
10th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.

Fourth Race—Purse $100, for three-year-olds and upward, selling, five furlongs.
2nd. American Saddle Potatoes.
3rd. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
4th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
5th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
6th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
7th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
8th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
9th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.
10th. F. J. Miller's Potatoes.

NORDICA'S HUSBAND.

Fred A. Gower Said to Be Alive in London.

Missing Since a Balloon Ascension Nine Years Ago.

Long Litigation Over His Property Followed.

Mr. Nordica, who has been with that organization during the entire New York run, has resigned his position, and when the extravaganza reopens next month his place will be filled by Gustave Kerker.

Mr. Nordica had a grievance. One of the colored people who does a dance in "1492" became rather offensive, and attempted to instruct Mr. Perlet in the art of directing an orchestra. "You'll have to play that faster if you expect me to dance," declared the tinted gentleman, with a haughty worthy of Harlow. Perlet was exceedingly indignant, and sought out the suave and affable Edward E. Rice, who at times is not suave and affable. This was one of the times Mr. Rice declined to interfere between the colored gentleman and Mr. Perlet, and the director had to resume work. He informed the manager that he would finish his week, and then say adieu.

This he has done. Perlet's friends are inclined to think that he has been badly treated. He did a good deal for the extravaganza, and it is said that only three of Carl Pfeiffer's original airs remain, the rest having been contributed by the musical director, who got no credit for his work. Perlet has written a comic opera, in which Frank and his wife, Edith Murlin, will star next season. The comic opera's libretto is the work of Edith Murlin, who has made a story from the "Happy Man."

James Neil and Annie Blanche, who were recently divorced, have "met as friends" in a Denver stock company. They are now in the city, and are in their musical studies, and she was able to make a foothold as a prima donna. She made her debut in Milan, and her success there gained her engagements at the Grand Opera House, and she married Gower in the latter city. The couple lived happily for a time, but after a while Mrs. Nordica, the wife of the late Fred A. Gower, who was a well-known actor, and the Gowers separated. Mrs. Gower and her mother sailed for Boston, where a suit for divorce was begun by the former.

It is said that Gower was unaware of the legal proceedings when he made a balloon ascension at Havre on July 12, 1885. He was never heard of again and was given up as lost. Since that time Mrs. Nordica has been properly speaking, Mrs. Gower, to obtain her interests as widow in the property of her late husband. She finally brought suit to obtain possession of her husband's property in California, but the case was eventually dropped, and she is now waiting for him to come to her in consideration of her own cash.

The property left by Frederick A. Gower was said to have been valued at $100,000. It included property in England and France, as well as in this country.

Elephants do go mad. In the East Indies, where tame elephants are classed as intelligent machines and are invaluable adjuncts to civil engineering and transportation, a "rogue" elephant is as much dreaded as an outbreak of cholera, a tornado, or a pestilence. It is a creature of its very sagacity, and it is all the more dangerous, and once started on a career of destruction and life-taking, its methods appear cynical in their pertinacity and ingenuity. Of such "rogues" there are the wild beast of the forest in common with its fellows, and the domesticated animal in the condition of "must." The latter is more dangerous than the other because its spell of blind fury generally begins in densely populated neighborhoods.

DIRECTOR PERLET RESIGNS.

Has a Grievance.

The Orchestra Leader of "1492" Has a Grievance.

Mr. Nordica, who has been with that organization during the entire New York run, has resigned his position, and when the extravaganza reopens next month his place will be filled by Gustave Kerker.

Mr. Nordica had a grievance. One of the colored people who does a dance in "1492" became rather offensive, and attempted to instruct Mr. Perlet in the art of directing an orchestra. "You'll have to play that faster if you expect me to dance," declared the tinted gentleman, with a haughty worthy of Harlow. Perlet was exceedingly indignant, and sought out the suave and affable Edward E. Rice, who at times is not suave and affable. This was one of the times Mr. Rice declined to interfere between the colored gentleman and Mr. Perlet, and the director had to resume work. He informed the manager that he would finish his week, and then say adieu.

This he has done. Perlet's friends are inclined to think that he has been badly treated. He did a good deal for the extravaganza, and it is said that only three of Carl Pfeiffer's original airs remain, the rest having been contributed by the musical director, who got no credit for his work. Perlet has written a comic opera, in which Frank and his wife, Edith Murlin, will star next season. The comic opera's libretto is the work of Edith Murlin, who has made a story from the "Happy Man."

James Neil and Annie Blanche, who were recently divorced, have "met as friends" in a Denver stock company. They are now in the city, and are in their musical studies, and she was able to make a foothold as a prima donna. She made her debut in Milan, and her success there gained her engagements at the Grand Opera House, and she married Gower in the latter city. The couple lived happily for a time, but after a while Mrs. Nordica, the wife of the late Fred A. Gower, who was a well-known actor, and the Gowers separated. Mrs. Gower and her mother sailed for Boston, where a suit for divorce was begun by the former.

It is said that Gower was unaware of the legal proceedings when he made a balloon ascension at Havre on July 12, 1885. He was never heard of again and was given up as lost. Since that time Mrs. Nordica has been properly speaking, Mrs. Gower, to obtain her interests as widow in the property of her late husband. She finally brought suit to obtain possession of her husband's property in California, but the case was eventually dropped, and she is now waiting for him to come to her in consideration of her own cash.

The property left by Frederick A. Gower was said to have been valued at $100,000. It included property in England and France, as well as in this country.

Elephants do go mad. In the East Indies, where tame elephants are classed as intelligent machines and are invaluable adjuncts to civil engineering and transportation, a "rogue" elephant is as much dreaded as an outbreak of cholera, a tornado, or a pestilence. It is a creature of its very sagacity, and it is all the more dangerous, and once started on a career of destruction and life-taking, its methods appear cynical in their pertinacity and ingenuity. Of such "rogues" there are the wild beast of the forest in common with its fellows, and the domesticated animal in the condition of "must." The latter is more dangerous than the other because its spell of blind fury generally begins in densely populated neighborhoods.

Mr. Nordica, who has been with that organization during the entire New York run, has resigned his position, and when the extravaganza reopens next month his place will be filled by Gustave Kerker.

When the Day is Done
Read the News of the Day

THE 6 O'CLOCK
EVENING
WORLD

Is Right Up to Date in Everything.

BE YOU

A Married Man or a Bachelor
A Housewife
or a Suffragist

A Saint
or a Sport,
A Wage-Earner
or a Bondholder

Sweet Sixteen or a Little Further On,
A Solid Citizen

or a Plain Nobody

THE THINGS YOU ARE LOOKING FOR YOU WILL FIND WITH

All the News

Every Day,
Ahead of Everybody

And in a Most Attractive Guise, in

THE 6 O'CLOCK
EVENING
WORLD

The Wide-Awake New Yorker's Paper

BUY IT! KNOW WHAT'S GOING ON! READ